

OUR STORY

Hospitality First

We didn't start by asking what software should do.

We started by asking what hospitality deserves.

There is a quiet difference between helping someone manage events...

...and helping someone create unforgettable celebrations.

Technology can organize information.

But hospitality is built on people.

Relationships.

Trust.

Presence.

Care.

Every decision inside Hello to Cheers begins with one question:

"Does this make hospitality feel more human?"

If the answer is no...

we don't build it.

That is what this page is about.

Not features.

Not software.

Belief.

HOSPITALITY COMES FIRST

Hospitality should never feel like administration.

Software exists to give venue owners and teams more time for hospitality.

Not more administration.

Not more complexity.

Technology should disappear.

The venue should remain.

The software shouldn't become the experience.

It should quietly support the people creating it.

OUR PROMISE

Technology changes. Hospitality doesn't.

Every product decision inside Hello to Cheers is measured against the same promise.

Will this save time?

Will it reduce stress?

Will it strengthen relationships?

Will it help venues create better experiences?

If it doesn't...

it doesn't belong.

THE ROLE OF LUV

Hospitality will always belong to people.

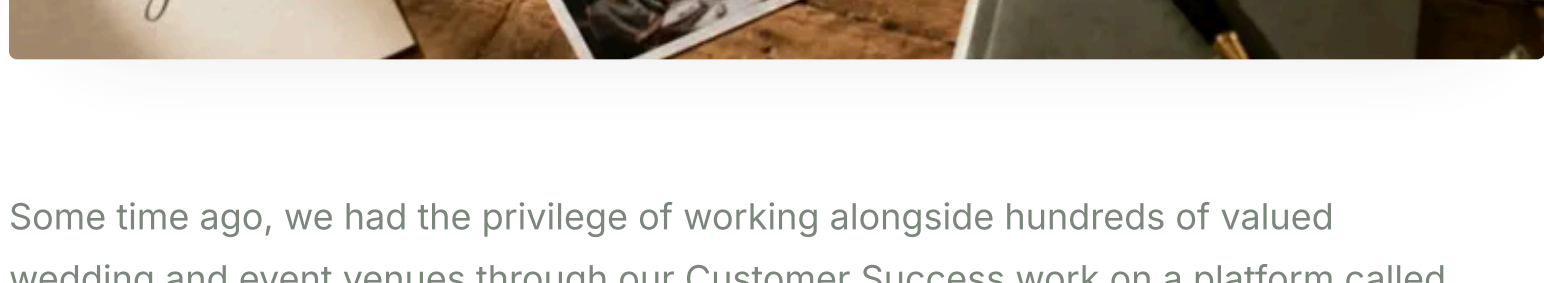

Luv was never created to replace the people who make your venue special.

She quietly notices what deserves attention, prepares thoughtful suggestions, and helps keep important details from slipping through the cracks.

So your team can spend less time managing software...

and more time practicing hospitality.

Our First Friends

Some time ago, we had the privilege of working alongside hundreds of valued wedding and event venues through our Customer Success work on a platform called Weven.

Those relationships never left us.

You welcomed us into your venues.

You shared your ideas.

We listened carefully to your likes and wants—and you challenged us to build something even better.

You celebrated successes with us and helped us learn from every challenge.

When that platform came to an end, we weren't ready to say goodbye or stop solving the problems venue owners face every day.

Instead, we started over.

Not with old code.

Not with a redesign.

With a blank sheet of paper.

Every workflow.

Every feature.

Every decision.

Built from the ground up using everything we learned from the venue community we served directly over the years.

While the technology is entirely new, the philosophy remains the same:

Venue software should make hospitality feel easier—not more complicated.

If we had the opportunity to work together before, thank you.

We would be honored to earn your business again.

A Place Reserved For You

If we worked together during our time with Weven, we'd love the opportunity to reconnect.

Former Weven customers are invited to join our Founding Venue Program and receive Preferred Founding Pricing for as long as their subscription remains active.

This is simply our way of saying thank you to the people who helped shape the thinking behind everything we've built into Hello to Cheers today.

Some relationships are worth continuing.

TRUST

Trust isn't built by contracts.

It's built by showing up, keeping our promises, and earning the privilege to serve you month after month.

Venue owners trust you with life's most meaningful celebrations.

You trust us with your business.

We take that responsibility seriously.

Hello to Cheers believes trust is earned every month—through transparency, security, privacy, data ownership, and the freedom to cancel anytime.

TRANSPARENCY SECURITY PRIVACY DATA OWNERSHIP CANCEL ANYTIME

Read our full Trust philosophy →

OUR PRICING PHILOSOPHY

Software should earn its place every month.

We don't believe in locking customers into contracts.

We don't believe in charging extra for features that make hospitality better.

Every venue receives every feature.

The only thing that changes is the number of celebrations you manage each year.

Simple.

Transparent.

Designed to grow with you.

Explore Pricing →

AN INVITATION

We built Hello to Cheers because we believe software should give hospitality back to the people who create it.

If that belief resonates with you, we'd be honored to welcome you.

Schedule a Walkthrough